

NATE AMOR

Singer · Songwriter · Recording Artist

Deadrock Records | Distributed by Vydia

"Be the light. Spread the amor."

Genre:	Singer-Songwriter / Americana / Heartland Rock
For Fans Of:	Ray LaMontagne, Gregory Alan Isakov, Chris Stapleton, John Mayer, Amos Lee, Hozier, Marc Cohn, Bob Seger
Label:	Deadrock Records
Distribution:	Vydia
Hometown:	Minnesota-born, Denver-based
Latest Single:	"The Reason" (January 2026)
Music Video:	"The Reason" — February 6, 2026 (VEVO)
Next Single:	"Dancing in the Rain" — March 20, 2026
Debut Album:	"Love Is The Reason" — May 1, 2026
Booking:	booking@nateamor.com
Website:	nateamor.com
Social:	@nateamormusic (all platforms)

The Story

Nate Amor writes songs for people who've been through something and came out the other side. His voice — warm, weathered, and unmistakably real — carries 25 years of stages, heartbreak, reinvention, and hard-won hope. If Ray LaMontagne and Chris Stapleton had a conversation over whiskey about what it means to keep going, it would sound like a Nate Amor record.

His debut album "Love Is The Reason" drops May 1, 2026 on Deadrock Records — a collection of songs born from a lifetime of searching for identity, connection, and purpose. The lead single "The Reason," a love song written for his wife after their Elvis-officiated Vegas wedding on New Year's Eve, is streaming now with the music video premiering February 6th.

booking@nateamor.com | nateamor.com | @nateamormusic

What They're Saying

"A 25-year evolution shaped by grit, heart, and an unshakable belief that music can anchor a life through its hardest seasons."

— Big Easy Magazine

"With warm, resonant vocals and organic production, he transforms the song into something deeply personal — a story not just retold, but relived."

— Kings of A&R;

"A powerful and emotional performance that makes 'Walking In Memphis' all his own, while still paying utmost respect to the original."

— antiMusic

"A singer with local ties and a big dream about to come true."

— KVRR News

"The melody is alluring, a blend of rock-lite and alt-country. What makes the song excellent is Amor's vulnerability."

— V13

"Strong but soothing voice, with lyrics that will take you into a blissful trance of joy."

— Ladygunn

"Features fiercely emotive vocals that sing fervent melodies full of yearning."

— Earmilk

"The impeccable production and both the seductive and powerful voice of Amor come together to create an immersive atmosphere."

— Billboard Argentina

"Nate took the most powerful elements of each genre and fused them into an undeniably incredible track, and his voice is the cherry on top."

— Kaltblut Magazine

"Nate Amor's warm, soulful voice glides effortlessly over the instrumentation. He has poured his heart into every word."

— Rival Magazine

"Nate bares his kind and compassionate nature with his animated and gravelly tone in an invigorating, so balanced, way."

— Too Much Love Magazine

"A special record that defies the subjectivity of music with a must-hear sound that will make a believer out of anyone who presses play."

— Landon Buford

"Nate's powerful vocals steal the show. His voice only soars to new heights as the song progresses."

— Nagamag Magazine

Also featured in: BroadwayWorld, M.E.I. News, Nashville Voyager, Last Day Deaf, Landon Buford

Highlights

- Sold out Meow Wolf Denver (500 cap) in two hours
- Sold out Turf Club in Minneapolis (300 cap)
- Featured vocalist with Trans-Siberian Orchestra (7 seasons)
- Performed on NBC's The Voice
- Shared the stage with Train, Mat Kearney, and Marc Cohn
- National anthem performer at NHL, NBA, and Supercross events (35,000+ crowds)
- Viral TikTok moment — "Separate Ways" cover (596k+ views)
- 42,000+ followers across social platforms

booking@nateamor.com | nateamor.com | @nateamormusic

Biography

Nate Amor's musical journey is a testament to resilience, passion, and purpose. Over the past 25 years, the Minnesota-born singer/songwriter has built a career rooted in heartfelt storytelling and an unwavering commitment to his craft. His is a journey of growth and perseverance. With a new collection of songs on the horizon, Nate continues to live up to the meaning of his name and lead with love.

From a young age, Nate stood out, not just for his red hair and soulful voice, but for his drive to find connection and belonging through music. At twelve, he learned he was adopted. The discovery stirred many questions about identity and direction. Amidst the complexities of growing up, music became both a sanctuary and a guiding light. He recalls discovering his family's old karaoke machine and guitars, sparking a lifelong love for performing. "I found this Elvis karaoke tape and recorded myself singing, something just clicked," he says.

What started in a basement with a cassette recorder quickly evolved into high school talent shows, local gigs, and a professional path that led him to the vibrant Twin Cities live music scene. Cover bands became his livelihood, performing five nights a week for two decades. But original songwriting gave him a deeper sense of purpose. "I loved singing every night, but I always knew I had more to say," he reflects.

That creative drive eventually led to meaningful milestones, including a performance on The Voice and an unforgettable encounter with one of his musical idols, Marc Cohn. When Nate asked if Cohn might be his biological father, the artist responded, "I'll be your father of music." It was a symbolic moment that left a lasting impression and deepened Nate's sense of artistic identity.

In recent years, Nate has embraced a new chapter. This one is defined by personal healing and artistic reinvention. His time during the pandemic offered a chance to slow down, reflect, and step into the spotlight as a recording artist. He also joined the iconic Trans-Siberian Orchestra, which further expanded his musical horizons.

Nate channels his experiences into songs that resonate with authenticity and hope. "We all go through something, grief, anxiety, heartbreak. I want my music to remind people they're not alone. There's always a way forward."

Nate Amor's work is more than just music. It's a message. That message is one of healing, human connection, and the belief that, no matter what path you've walked, your story is still unfolding.

Press-Ready Quotes

"I found this Elvis karaoke tape and recorded myself singing, something just clicked."

— On discovering music as a child

"I loved singing every night, but I always knew I had more to say."

— On the transition from covers to originals

"We all go through something, grief, anxiety, heartbreak. I want my music to remind people they're not alone. There's always a way forward."

— On the mission behind his music

"I'll be your father of music."

— Marc Cohn to Nate Amor

booking@nateamor.com | nateamor.com | @nateamormusic

2026 Release Schedule

Date	Release	Format
January 2026	"The Reason"	Single (out now)
February 6	"The Reason" music video	Video (VEVO)
March 20	"Dancing in the Rain"	Single
May 1	"Love Is The Reason"	Full-length album

Sync & Placements

- "Sweet Misery" — Cruel Intentions III (Sony Pictures)
- "Beautiful" — General Mills documentary
- Theme song — Rebel and Be Well podcast
- Theme song — The Boomies podcast

Live Performance

- Sold out Meow Wolf Denver (500 cap) in two hours
- Sold out Turf Club Minneapolis (300 cap)
- Letters from Home 2026 — Boca Raton, FL (4 performances with 22-piece orchestra)
- National anthem performances — NHL, NBA, Supercross (crowds of 35,000+)
- Featured on NBC's The Voice
- Trans-Siberian Orchestra — featured vocalist (7 seasons)
- 20+ years as a professional touring and club musician

Available For

- Interviews (phone, video, in-person)
- Live acoustic sessions and in-studio performances
- Podcast guest appearances
- Festival and venue performances (solo, duo, or full band)
- National anthem performances
- Songwriting workshops and listening room series
- Corporate and private events

Technical Requirements

Solo Acoustic: Vocal mic (SM58 or equivalent), DI for acoustic guitar, monitor wedge

Full Band: Standard backline, 4-channel monitor mix, FOH provided

In-Studio/Radio: Can perform with own equipment (SM7B, Scarlett 4i4 interface)

Booking & Press

booking@nateamor.com nateamor.com

Label

Deadrock Records Jason — Label Partner

"Be the light. Spread the amor."

booking@nateamor.com | nateamor.com | @nateamormusic